Entrance Antiphon:

You are just, O Lord, and your judgement is right;
treat your servant in accord with your merciful love.

Psalm Response:

My soul, give praise to the Lord.

Gospel Acclamation:

Alleluia, Alleluia!
Speak, Lord, your servant is listening:
You have the message of eternal life.
Alleluia!

Memorial Acclamation:

We proclaim your Death, O Lord
and profess your Resurrection until you come again.

Communion Antiphon:

Like the deer that yearns for running streams,
so my soul is yearning for you, my God;
my soul is thirsting for God, the living God.

"In a recent conversation with my father he said that I was the "Prince of Wales' favourite music group" after the initial confusion he revealed that the Prince of Wales' favourite group is the "three degrees" a reference, somewhat tenuous, to the fact that I have three (bachelor) degrees.

This, in a sense, is an Earthly honour, and perhaps one in which we should not seek glory, in a similar way to how St James exhorts the recipients of his letter. He is referring to those who are rich in worldly terms, and how we should not favour them over those who are poorer, in worldly terms.

The question is: do we afford greater honour to those who are 'educated', to those who are more 'wealthy', to those who 'deserve' it; rather than those who are less educated, less wealthy, those who some in our society would reject? We are all children of God, and all of us should be afforded the respect that is our due, precisely because of this fact.

As an aside, the term 'Father' is used to refer to priests, not because of any Earthly glory or honour, but precisely because in his every action the priest is to point away from himself and towards our heavenly Father, who loves each of us unconditionally.

On a totally unrelated note: today (Sunday) is 'International Buy a Priest a Pint Day' ... cheers!"
